TAX ON GAS

Beginning next Monday every user of gasoline will pay two cents extra for every gallon purchased. California is the last of the Pacific Coast States to adopt a tax on gasoline.

This method of taxation, to our way of thinking, is the very best way to raise public funds. A sales tax affects all users of a product and is easily collected as it becomes a part of the charge for the commodity. In most cases the payment of the tax is so easy that it is never noticed. Car owners could at times evade the payment of a license tax. The gas man, though, will catch them all.

Further than this, those who use the highways most should be the ones who should be required to pay the most of the construction and upkeep costs. We do not know how many millions of gallons of gasoline are sold in California every year, but we believe that the revenue accruing from all those gallons at two cents per gallon, should give us the finest system of roads ever enjoyed by any people anywhere under the sun.

The only ones who will feel badly about the tax are the sellers of gasoline. They will not get any extra compensation for their work, but they will have a whole lot of extra work in keeping their tax reports made out for the state. How would you like to be the gas man?

THE HIGH SCHOOL

This afternoon at 2:30, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons of the State of California, with members of the Grand Lodge, will come to Redwood City to lay the Corner-Stone of our new High School building. Corner-Stones are usually laid when the building is commenced. At times they are laid at the conclusion of the building program. In the present instance the building is just about half completed when the corner-stone is to be placed.

There is considerable significance in the ceremony of laying a corner-stone, and in this particular instance the exercises should mean a great deal to Redwood City. The idea behind the service is that the work thus done is for the good of the Nation.

We believe that a people can perform no greater duty than to give beautiful surroundings to the future citizens of the community during the formative period of their lives. The people of the Sequoia Union High School District are doing this in an abundant measure.

The building and grounds will cost over a half million dollars. A finer tract of land can not be found anywhere, and the forty acres embraced will give room for all sorts of athletic activities. The building is of such architectural beauty that it should be a pleasure for the boys and girls who attend it. Surely the youths of this section are greatly blest.

THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES

The other day we heard a man ask in an address: "Where are we going?" What will all of the speed attained do to the people? In the speech he answered his questions by asking others. We do seem to be traveling pretty fast these days, and those who travel highest sometimes get pretty hard bumps. Such, however, has usually been the fate of high fliers. We remember in school we studied about Daedalus, who made wings for himself and his son, Icarus. Before they started to fly, Icarus was warned to keep close to his father, but with the fiery impetuosity of youth he flew up to examine the Sun. Bright lights always have and always will attract youth. When Icarus got too close to the sun, the heat melted the wax and the feathers fell from his wings and down, down, down he dropped into the sea. He dropped so far that he never stopped and his father could not find his body, so they named the place the Icarian Sea.

Youths are falling just the same today, but they are not falling so often, and many of them take parachutes with them when they start to fly. We really believe that despite all of the hurry and bustle, that in spite of the automobiles and flying machines and motorcycles and power boats, that the world is getting better all of the time.

We feel that the boys and girls of today are just as good and maybe a little better than we were when we were their age. We feel that they have ways of attaining knowledge and experience that were not thought safe for us. We are glad that we are living now, but we believe that things will be as much better fifty years from now as this time is better than the times of fifty years ago.

AFFAIRS IN OKLAHOMA

Governor Walton of Oklahoma, who is willing to call out the State Militia to keep the K. K. K. from meeting, is certainly getting a big share of public notice just now. Not knowing just what the K. K. K. stands for or against we cannot form as clear an opinion as we might about the Oklahoma situation. We can see, though, that Governor Walton is a mighty astute politician. Everyone opposed to the Klan will have to line up with him whether they want to or not.

We remember another governor who not so very long ago called out the Militia, and boosted himself right into the White House thereby. We don't believe that the needs were parallel, however. Nevertheless, it is interesting to watch events in Oklahoma.

You may not be "afraid of hard work," as you've often said, but don't you prefer soft work?

The man who lives by his wits really lives by other men's lack of wits.

It's always disappointing to the neighbors when the blacksheep of the family turns out to be its white hope.

How San Mateo Looked in 1894 when The Big Fire Occured

The following, interesting description of the town of San Mateo, is taken from a book on San Mateo County published in 1883, and gives many interesting facts concerning the city to the north as it was at that time.

"The growth of the town of San Mateo had been very similar to that of other places in California, outside of the mining regions. It did not spring up in a night at the rubbing of some Aladdin's lamp. It is a sort of a spontaneous growth of a rich agricultural and pasturing section, in contiguous with the great mart of the coast. The same charm and advantages that attracted the first settlers there, have drawn each succeeding one, until we now see a beautiful flourishing town, claiming no small degree of importance as a tributary to the San Francisco market.

The first to make lodgement upon the site was John B. Cooper, who had been previously living at and around the old mission. In 1851, he came to the site of the present village and made a brush booth around a large oak tree, which served him for a habitation while he was erecting a more substantial dwelling on the bank of the creek, where the residence of Mr. Rice now stands.

In 1850, Nicholas Duposier put up a frame building, a little west of the village, on the property now owned by Captain Taylor.

In 1851, Dr. Post came and erected a domicile where William H. Howard at present lives.

"In 1852, David S. Cook arrived and formed a business connection with Duposier, in the hotel business at the Taylor place above referred to. In 1853, they enlarged their hotel by the addition of a large frame building, which was brought from the East in nine different vessels, framed and ready to be put together. They purchased it of Captain Shaw, attached it to the original structure, and with these enlarged accommodations, continued the business together until 1856, when Mr. Cook bought out his partner's interest, and became sole proprietor; he eventually sold out to Stockton and Shafter, who in turn sold to "Tony" Oakes, Captain Edward Taylor, subsequently purchased the property of Oakes, and a portion of the old hotel, that in the early days sheltered so many weary travelers under its hospitable roof, and spread before them its generous reflection, now forms a part of his residence.

"C. B. Polhemus in September 1863, laid out and platted the town of San Mateo. Here it may be mentioned that the name of this town, the county and the creek, is in Spanish for San Mateo, the name being given the creek by the Mission fathers.

"Prior to the passage of the railroad and the plating of the town, what business there was here was carried on near the county road. There Henry Husing began to trade in 1859, and after him came Skidmore and Purcell. In 1861, Charles and William Remington became the first blacksmiths of the place, with the exception of an old Indian, on the hills nearby, who was accustomed to make spurs and bridle bits for the Mexicans.

"Following the completion of the Southern Pacific railroad, the town, owing to its magnificent site among the native oaks, and to its unequalled soil, and climate for healthful residences, began to attract the attention of men of fortune who have made here their princely homes, and added to the charms nature has so lavishly bestowed, all that wealth and refinement can suggest.

"A few minutes past nine o'clock on June 15th, 1883, a fire was discovered in a shed in the rear of Hugh McKernan's saloon in the central block, just across the street from the railroad station. The fire spread rapidly until eleven o'clock, when the whole block was in flames.

"The town has a splendid water works, and pipes are laid everywhere and the supply of water would have been amply sufficient to extinguish the flames had there been sufficient hydrants. Before an engine could be brought into use, the fire had gained such headway that it could not be checked. An effort was made to save Dr. Goodspeed's brick store by moving out a butcher shop adjoining it. The citizens succeeded in rolling the shop out on the street, but not in time to prevent its destruction. The entire town turned out to fight the flames, and several bucket brigades worked with will, but without avail. Every team in town was called into requisition to save goods which were carried across the tracks to a place of safety.

The places burned out were the post office and vacant building adjoining, and Winter's paint shop, owned by Dr. L. R. Goodspeed, Wisconsin Hall, Plouff's saloon, and a building occupied by Flynn, the plumber, all owned by A. Borel, saloon owned by Casey and McKernan, San Mateo Hotel, stable, and Whiteheads saloon, all owned by E. Walker. Nearly all movable articles were saved from the postoffice, Plouff's, McKernan's, Flynn's and Winter's. The hotel lost everything but a piano. The block was swept clean by flames.

The only hotel in the place was the Union House, owned by Hon. James Byrnes. The general merchandise business is represented by two grocers, E. A. Husing and James Bickford. There are two drug stores, the proprietors of which are Dr. I. R. Goodspeed and Dr. Morse. The harness shop of A. T. Barlett, meat market of Price & Jennings, two blacksmith shops, of Thomas Coleman and Michael Brown, two shoemakers, William G. Alt and Thomas H. Perry, the barber shop of John Vallado and the real estate office of Hugh McDermott compose the rest of the town.

The town is the northern terminus of the San Mateo, Pescadero and

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

Last Saturday evening at the home of her parents on Spruce Avenue, Miss Catherine E. Tuttle, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tuttle, celebrated her sixteenth birthday by entertaining her young friends, many of whom were her former classmates at St. Joseph's Parochial School. The evening was pleasantly passed in games, dancing and singing old time songs and southern melodies. The birthday supper was a feature of the occasion. The delicious birthday cake was cooked by the young lady and those who partook of it declare it to be better than the ones mother used to bake. Miss L. Murphy of Mayfield, whose birthday occurs on the same day, assisted Miss Tuttle in receiving the thirty guests.

The postoffice department is about to sign a ten year lease with W. J. Murray for his property on the corner of Golden and Merrill Avenues to house the local postoffice. A big addition is to be made to the building there to comply with the requirements of the department, which is looking forward to the time when local mail carriers will be needed. The community is growing so rapidly that they will be required in a few years. The new office will occupy double the floor space of the present one. Modern equipment will be installed so that the office will be one of the finest on the Peninsula.

The petition for the incorporation of the town of Menlo Park will be heard by the board of supervisors on October 8. Should the petition be granted, and it is reasonably supposed that it will be, a strenuous campaign is to be conducted by the advocates of incorporation. There are some opposed to the proposition. The embattled factions will wage a fierce war at the polls. That is the proper place to settle the vexed question. Abuse, vilification and the indulging in personalities will only drag the affair into the mire of politics, and will get nowhere. Let the coming campaign be free from animosity. Let peace and harmony be the order of the day. Personally we believe the failure of incorporation at this time would be a calamity for a long time.

The rainfall for the recent storm was 1.40 inches. This is below the amount of rain at this time last year.

Edwin J. Smith will be united in marriage this morning at San Jose to Miss Ina Voss, a pretty nurse at the Base Hospital. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. A. W. Noel Potter of Trinity Church. The young couple are to spend the honeymoon in southern California. They will reside at Palo Alto pending the construction of a bungalow in Menlo Oaks. Mr. Smith is a clerk in the postoffice department at San Francisco. The charming bride-to-be is an eastern young woman.

The Joseph A. Donohoe ranch at Ravenwood, consisting of 123 acres of land, was sold this week to Joseph Rider residing in the Inman mansion on Oak Grove Avenue. It is said the sum of fifteen hundred dollars an acre was paid for the choice property, which has been in the Donohoe family for a great many years. Mr. Rider is an expert strawberry man and will plant a good portion of the ranch in berries and vegetables. A portion of the holding may be sold. Mr. Rider was the first man to introduce the Banner strawberry to the state. The berry was originally propagated in Oregon. Mr. Rider comes originally from Watsonville, where he with Mr. Driscoll was engaged in the berry business for years, making a fortune. A few years ago they bought the Baron estate at Mayfield, planting it in berries and subdividing portions of it. The sale of the Donohoe property has been the largest in this locality for a long time.

Frank Maloney, owner of the Menlo Pool parlors, has leased the John Doyle home on Pine street and has moved his family from Redwood City.

Frank Carroll, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll, see Margaret Maloney, will be married today to Marjorie Cox, a pretty blonde of San Francisco. The young couple are to reside in San Jose where Mr. Carroll is engaged in the automobile business. His father is the cashier

LOCAL MASONS CELEBRATE U. S. CONSTITUTION WEEK

Last week was celebrated throughout the United States as "Constitution Week" by all the Masonic lodges, and appropriate meetings were held with fitting ceremonies to honor the framers of our nation's government. Last Friday was celebrated by the local Masonic Lodge as Constitution Day, and a large gathering of local Masons met in their hall here to celebrate the occasion. The chief speakers of the evening were A. C. Argo, who dwelt upon the duties of American citizenship; Pierce Coombs, who spoke on the history of the constitution and Geo. Ross, who spoke on the political aspect of the constitution. Musical numbers by O. M. Carrington and Irving Cooper were also enjoyed. William A. Sherman, Grand Master of Masons of California, in his proclamation setting aside the week of September 17 to be celebrated as Constitution Week in all California lodges, says: "This marvelous document of human liberty stands with-out an equal. Magna Charta, wrested from King John at Runnymede, was the germ from which was established the recognition of the rights of man; but that historic document was merely as good seed sown in the world's process of political evolution. Our forefathers of revolutionary days improved and enlarged the scope of free government by assuring in our constitution equal rights to all, and from the spirit it displays and the character and affiliation of the men who evolved it.

The local meeting was under the management of F. Thornton Smith, and much credit is due him for the manner in which the whole affair was arranged. The meeting was followed by refreshments prepared by John Carl, which were enjoyed by all present.

WOODSIDE NEWS

Stephen Leigh, gardener on the J.M. Huddart estate, suffered severe injury on Sunday when he fell from a bridge spanning the creek that runs through the place, landing on the jagged rocks below.

Braford Leavitt and family closed their summer home here on Sunday and departed for their place in Pasadena.

O. L. Craven and family removed on Thursday to their new home in Redwood City on the road to Emerald Lake.

Mrs. Selah Chamberlain invited the children of Woodside to a moving picture performance that was given on Friday night at the church. Needless to say that on this occasion the church was crowded and the children delighted.

Mrs. Fred Michall entertained several of her old friends at luncheon on Tuesday. Those present were Mrs. Hunker, Mrs. Westcott, Mrs. Andreen, Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Daive of San Jose.

Thayer Messer, who was badly injured a few weeks ago in an automobile accident, is expected to return from the hospital to his home on Saturday of this week.

Miss Louise Mahon, niece of Rev. Benjamin St. John, was taken seriously ill while on a vacation trip in the south and has been under a physician's care at La Jolla. She has been improving steadily and it is expected that she will soon be able to make the return journey.

Cleaning
Without Odor
by the
F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes.
